

Rural Housing Conference

Building for Rural Communities

Wednesday 3 July 2019

Hallam Conference Centre, 44 Hallam Street, London W1W 6JJ

The Rural Housing Conference is the highlight of Rural Housing Week. This is the one day of the year when professionals from across the rural housing landscape get together to discuss the topics that matter to housing associations serving rural communities.

We'll discuss:

- the unique challenges of building rural homes
- delivering the new homes that rural communities need
- ensuring that existing homes continue to offer great places to live for communities.

Join the debates on the latest policy developments affecting your organisation, and find practical solutions to your challenges by attending hands-on workshops. This is a unique opportunity to hear from high profile speakers and share views and best practice with other rural housing associations and stakeholders.

Partnering with CLTs to deliver rural homes

Working closely with communities is vital to successful delivery in rural areas and this is something that both housing associations and Community Land Trusts have real strengths in. This workshop will look at successful partnerships between the two and explore the best practice and learnings from these experiences.

Meeting the carbon challenge in rural areas

The Government has set challenging targets to improve the energy efficiency of the UK's homes and fuel poverty can be a real problem in rural communities. How well placed is your organisation to meet this challenge and provide low carbon, warm homes that don't cost the earth? Hear from energy industry experts and sector leaders about the latest innovations and gain practical advice on meeting the carbon challenge.

Chair: Amy Simmons, Head of Policy, National Housing Federation

Accessing the right land at the right price

The Rural 5 Star Plan demonstrates the housing sector's commitment to build the homes our rural communities need. To do this, we need to be able to access land that is appropriate and affordable. This workshop will explore how we can work in partnership with landowners and others to deliver much needed homes.

Chair: Will Jeffwitz, Policy Leader, National Housing Federation
