

Ned Boulting.

Award Winning Sports Journalist,
Television Presenter, Author & Generally
Clever Bloke

Birth date: 11/07/1969

Born: Andover, UK

Lives: Lewisham, UK

Records / Achievements

- Winner of the Royal Television Society Sports News Reporter of the Year
- Acknowledged as the authoritative voice and face of cycling on UK terrestrial television
- 2003 Joined ITV covering football events including Champions League, Europa League and FA Cup
- Covered ITV's Tour de France coverage since 2003, expanded to Tour of Britain and Vuelta a Espana
- 2006 Produced and Directed Steven Gerrard – A Year in My Life
- 2016 Created Bikeology a one man live theatrical show about bike stuff

Award Winning Sports Journalist, Television Presenter, Author & Generally Clever Bloke

Ned has been an integral part of ITV's Tour de France coverage since 2003, forging a position within the cycling world as a respected reporter, presenter and writer. Along the way Ned's portfolio of work has expanded, annual credit includes coverage of the Tour of Britain and Vuelta a Espana. Ned is an eloquent speaker, confident host and facilitator. In 2017 Ned toured for the second year in a row his hugely popular Bikeology show, a one man live theatrical show about bike stuff. It was staged around the UK as a near sell-out and will return for more dates at the end of this year. Ned has a very busy 2018, commentating on the Tour de France and the Vuelta a Espana as well as developing new material and a new concept for Tour de Ned - be on the lookout for tickets!

Produced and directed a number of programmes:

'Dutch Master – A Tribute Dennis Bergkamp' (1998)
Award winning 'Steven Gerrard – A Year in My Life' (2006)

Accomplished author with numerous published works:

'How Cav Won the Green Jersey: Short Dispatches from the 2011 Tour de France' (2012)
'How I Won the Yellow Jumper: Dispatches from the Tour de France' (2012)
'On the Road Bike: The Search For a Nation's Cycling Soul' (2014)
'101 Damnations: Dispatches from the 101st Tour de France' (2015)
'Boulting's Velosaurus: A Linguistic Tour de France' (2016)

Contact.

office@mtc-uk.com

020 7935 8000