SID Now Accepting URA Tokens As A Payment Method

09/12/2018- LAS VEGAS- In an effort to encourage cross promotion the popular SID of Shared Internet Data Token announced that URA tokens will now be an acceptable payment for their own SID tokens. URA tokens from the URAllowance project are available with a bonus applicable for a limited time directly on their website at your URAllowance account page.

URAllowance introduces something new called Family Smart Contracts which is a way for families to use smart contracts to keep track of responsibilities such as chores, school work or other goals. All of the URAllowance users will be able to customize their Family Smart Contracts to suit their individual family needs. The token sale is active now and the leaders at SID token project are now collecting URA Tokens as payment for the widely anticipated SID tokens. This announcement comes only a short time after the SID token announced its partnership with the beloved Dunkin Donuts brand.
