

YOUR TAX DEPARTMENT SPENDS TOO MUCH TIME AND RESOURCES ON COMPLIANCE

The answer is Outsourcing.

New tax and transfer pricing rules and regulations are rapidly being implemented around the globe. At the same time, MNE board members are seeking assurance that their organizations are complying with the increasingly complex tax rules. This combination demands more and better documentation, greater accuracy and more speed. Hence the increased workload for tax departments and a need for more standardization, automation and outsourcing of compliance processes. In other words, as part of risk management, outsourcing of (part of) the compliance function has become the solution of choice for many MNE's.

Other benefits of outsourcing include:

1. Access to Transfer Pricing specialists to leverage industry "better practices";
2. Timely filing of TP documentation;
3. Reduced failings due to manual interference;
4. Less time spent by in-house finance staff on the data-gathering process
5. Flexible scalability of the tax departments' resources;
6. More focus on long-term strategic tax planning and the company's core competences;
7. Better risk management.
