

The British Parliament will have a vital role to play in consultation at all stages.

The Ministers who compose the Council of Ministers are still responsible to their national Parliaments.

I do not see any British Minister losing sight of this basic fact.

So it is nonsense to say that Britain will no longer be ruled by the will of the people's representatives - or to put it in constitutional terms - by the Queen in Parliament.

/Successive