DEMOGRAPHICS & ECONOMY

The population of Portsmouth was approximately 210,000 in 2023, making it the second-most densely populated city in the UK. The city is part of the wider Portsmouth urban area, which has a population of over 850,000. Between the last two censuses (held in 2011 and 2021), Portsmouth experienced steady population growth, reflecting its appeal as a place to live, work, and study. The University of Portsmouth plays a significant role in the city's economy and community.

With over 28,000 students, the university contributes to the local economy through employment, student spending, and innovation in key areas such as technology and business. Additionally, the city benefits from its strong maritime and defence industries, with the Royal Navy and associated businesses providing significant employment opportunities. The retail and tourism sectors also thrive due to Portsmouth's strategic location and rich heritage. Portsmouth International Port is situated just 4.3 miles away, a major UK port, responsible for handling millions of customers and vital cargo across the globe. This includes building the groundbreaking Sea Change shore power project. The port is home to Portico, which has received significant investment to operate the two conventional cargo berths at the port.
