Description

Set within attractive and extensive grounds, the school combines historic character with modern educational facilities. At its heart is the original main building, dating from around 1880 and originally constructed as the residence of Lord Penrhyn. This impressive stone-built property retains many of its period features, including traditional timber sash windows and multi-pitched slate roofs, creating a distinctive and prestigious setting.

Complementing the historic building is a substantial three-storey extension which provides additional space. A modern two-storey junior school building is located to the rear of the site, offering contemporary teaching facilities within a bright and attractive environment.

The school is accessed via a private, security-gated driveway that winds through the grounds, passing playing fields before arriving at the main visitor and staff car park. A secondary access road serves a further parking area adjacent to the all-weather sports pitch and recreational facilities, ensuring convenient access throughout the campus.

The combination of heritage architecture, modern educational accommodation, extensive sports facilities, and a secure campus environment creates an exceptional setting for learning and development.
