DESCRIPTION

The newly branded "Sail Loft" has recently been refurbished to an excellent standard. The building is awash with heritage having previously served as a Covent Garden Bakery. 81 Endell Street toward the front was famously the location of The Caravan Club, a gay and lesbian-friendly club in the 1930s. This self-contained property is set back from Endell Street itself and accessed via a gated, newly cobbled pedestrianised walkway. This leads to a small private courtyard prior to entering the building. The property is arranged over a Basement, Ground, First, Second and Third floors. The refurbishment has sensitively retained industrial warehouse features throughout. There is spot lighting, newly sanded and varnished timber floors, sandblasted and exposed brick walls, comfort cooling and 4 WCs (including shower on the lower ground floor).

DATA SPECIFICATIONS

Openreach installed a line to the building that accommodated connectivity of 1GBps. This agreement to be terminated on exit. There are two Ubiquiti (Unifi) UAP AC Pro [Access Points] installed on two separate floors, which will remain in place. There are network ports installed for ethernet connections on most floors to provide wired ethernet access. The network cabling for all these ends on the ground floor, near the internal cupboard, which is also the point for the Openreach supplied line.
