TAKE TIME OUT

Nestled between the Marylebone Village and Oxford Street, our peaceful ground-floor terrace, with its striking herringbone tiled walls, channels a sense of contemporary calm. In keeping with the original building, its below-street-level location also means it's an outdoor space where you can conduct calls and conversations in private.

HOME AWAY FROM HOME

Follow in the footsteps of a former president of the United States – Martin Van Burin – who once called this Georgian property home. Step into the kitchen for a coffee or artisan tea and head to the showers when it's time to freshen up after an active commute or before an evening engagement.

LET THE LIGHT IN

In uniting two distinct properties, we've allowed natural light to pour in through the large windows and updated the interiors to ensure everyone has space to flourish – whether in one of the flexible offices, breakout areas or meeting rooms.
