Location

Located at the northern end of Walworth Road, Larcom House is situated on the corner of Larcom Street immediately adjacent to the centre of Elephant and Castle’s £4bn+ regeneration transformation. Walworth Road is Elephant and Castle’s high street and is home to around 400 businesses and more than 5,000 people. The area is known for its eclectic mix of supermarkets, big name retailers, pubs and restaurants.

The traditional streetscape of red brick facades and Georgian terraces has evolved through recent completed developments such as Strata Tower and Printworks, with General Projects joint venture with Southwark Council set to restore the adjacent Newington Library and Walworth Town Hall.

In addition, the proposed expansion to the Bakerloo Line will deliver more than 25,000 new homes and 10,000 jobs across Southwark and Lewisham.

Description

Larcom House was built in 1937, originally as the Health Services Department of the Metropolitan Borough of Southwark and today is the area's principal NHS doctor's surgery. Comprising a Grade II listed building of 25,112 sq ft (NIA), the property was constructed of red brick and characterised by art-deco external detailing. Arranged over lower ground, ground and two upper floors, the main elevation runs along Larcom Street, with a secondary frontage to Walworth Road, and the rear elevation, on Ethel Street.

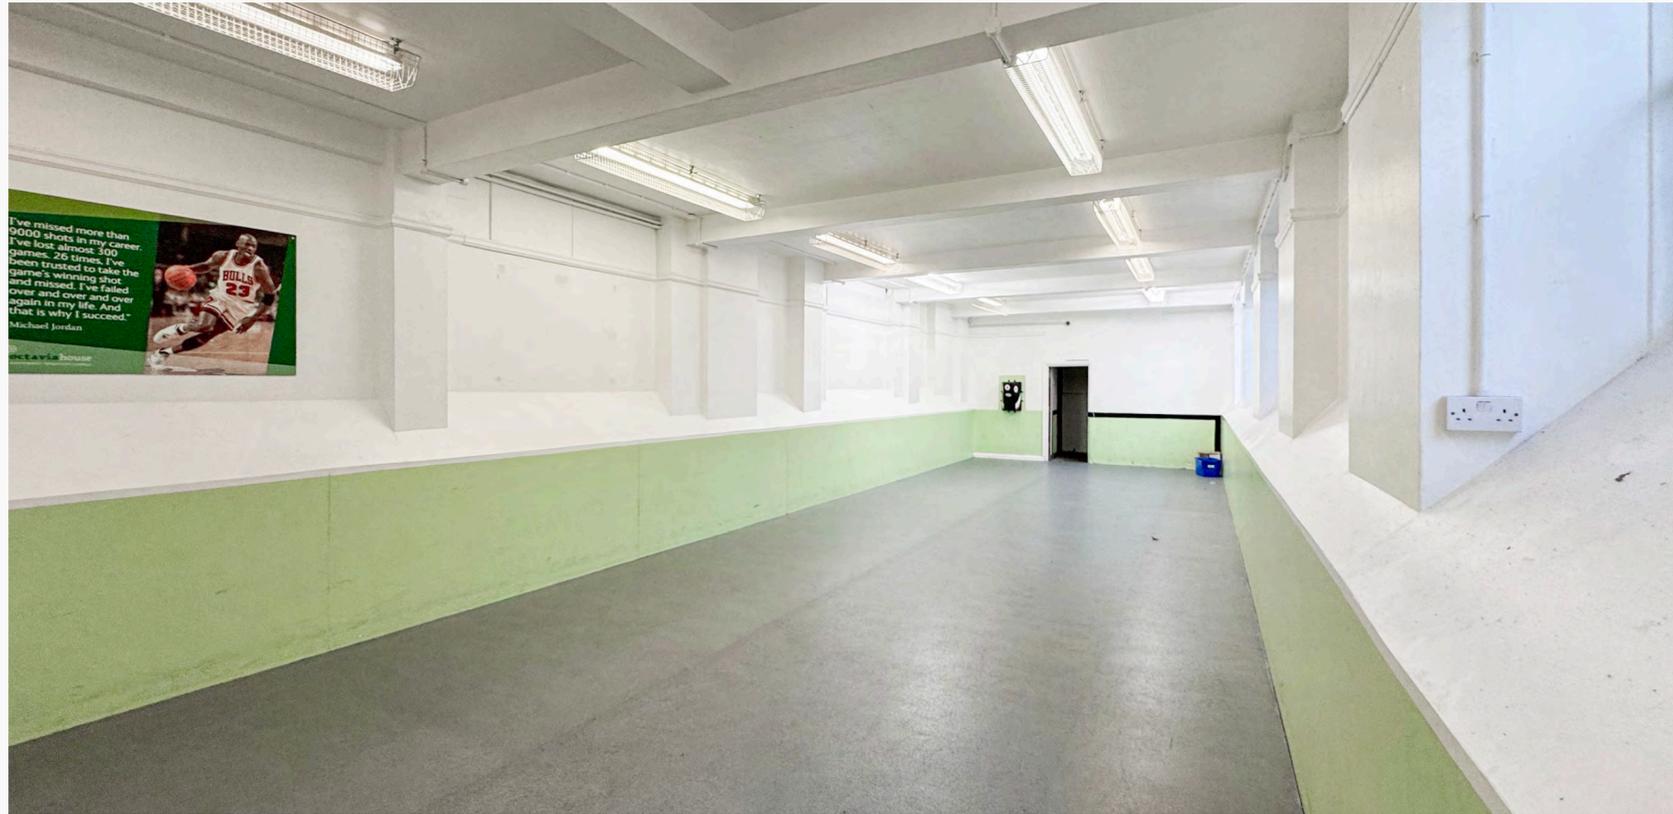

The available floors are Lower Ground, Ground and 1st Floor.

Internally the property retains its exceptional volumes, with ceiling heights of c.3m throughout the 1st floor and critical double glazing on its elevations.
