Story

In 1981, Syco Systems opened its showrooms at 20/21 Conduit Place, introducing Britain to the revolutionary Fairlight CMI — the first commercially successful digital sampler, which helped define the sound of the 1980s. Musicians visited to experience the groundbreaking ability to capture and replay any sound from a keyboard.

DESCRIPTION

This exceptional former warehouse building occupies a prime position moments from Paddington Station and offers a rare opportunity to secure truly characterful accommodation in one of Central London's most sought-after commercial districts.

Arranged over Lower Ground to Third Floor, the property benefits from an internal passenger lift and a spectacular top floor with exposed open eaves, celebrating the building's rich industrial heritage.

The building is currently undergoing a first-class refurbishment, carefully designed to restore and enhance its original character while delivering a best-in-class Office/Class E environment. Heritage features will be thoughtfully balanced with contemporary finishes, creating a highly efficient and amenity-rich building that will stand at the forefront of the Paddington market.

A comprehensive new M&E package will provide state-of-the-art comfort cooling, modern lighting and high-speed data infrastructure. A full technical specification is available upon request, and the landlord is actively seeking occupiers who wish to collaborate in shaping and tailoring their ideal accommodation.

Bespoke furnishing packages are available by separate arrangement, allowing for a fully fitted, ready-to-occupy solution.

The landlord will consider letting the building as a whole to a single occupier or, alternatively, to individual tenants on a floor-by-floor basis, providing flexibility for a wide range of business requirements.
