Bromborough is situated on the Wirral Peninsula, forming part of the Merseyside conurbation, to the west of the River Mersey. Liverpool City Centre is 7 miles to the east, Chester lies 12 miles to the south and Birkenhead is 2 miles to the north.

The town benefits from excellent access (via the A41) to the national motorway network, with junction 5 of the M53 being located 2 miles to the south, which in turn links to the M56 and M6 motorways.

The Wirral is a recognised commercial location for industries such as petrochemical, car manufacturing and port related businesses. Major companies represented in the area include Shell UK, General Motors, Unilever and Meyer International. Bromborough is one of the principle commercial centres on the Wirral

Bromborough 170

Liverpool City Region Freeport

Bromborough 170 sits within the Liverpool City Region Freeport.

A Freeport customs site (or “free zone”) is a secure, enclosed area where some normal tax and customs rules do not apply. Eligible businesses can apply to operate within it and benefit from:

Duty and VAT suspension:

No duty or import VAT is paid on goods brought onto the site until they enter the UK domestic market.

Duty exemption on re-exports:

No duty is paid on goods that are re-exported, unless they are subject to duty drawback clauses under the relevant trade agreement.

Duty inversion:

Duty can be calculated on either the imported components or the finished product, whichever is lower, unless anti-dumping duty applies.

Processing and manufacturing:

Both imported and domestic goods can be stored, processed or manufactured on site. This adds value before the goods are exported, or before they are released into the UK with duty paid at that point.

Simplified procedures:

Goods can be stored indefinitely, unlike temporary storage, which is capped at 90 days.

A single authorisation reduces contact with HMRC.

Customs documentation is simplified.

Goods can move by conduct between customs sites and other UK Freeports.
