Description

This self-contained retail premises occupy the ground and basement floors of a period warehouse building and benefits from a very visible position on Kingsland Road. The ground floor benefits from good display frontage (+ see note below) and natural light from the front and rear. The space is split-level and mostly open plan around a central structural core, with exposed brickwork and fireplace. There is an open-plan steel staircase from the rear of the ground floor retail space to the basement retail area, which also benefits from borrowed natural light from above. There is an additional stair to the front part of the basement, with staff tea-point, shower-room/WC and some storage.

Location

The premises are located on the West side of Kingsland Road, close to the major crossroad junction with Old Street, Shoreditch High Street and Hackney Road. Stations within easy walking distance include Hoxton, Old Street, Shoreditch High Street and Liverpool Street and the location is very well served by numerous bus routes.

Additional notes

- 1. There is an additional area currently solely for the benefit of the premises which gives and additional 9ft of frontage and an area of 22 sq. ft. (approx.). The area is held under part of a lease from Transport for London and while the incoming purchaser / occupier will benefit from its use, it does not form part of the demised area.
- 2. The neighbouring small office space set over first and second floors may also be available from the freeholder if additional space is required, details on request.
