Description

Royds Mill comprises an established business complex which includes a series of flexible business spaces which would be suitable for warehousing, storage, light manufacturing, studio or other business uses. This small warehouse (Unit A002) is on the ground floor and access faces onto the courtyard/entrance area to the Royds Mill complex. It therefore enjoys good "on site" prominence.

Location

Royds Mill was formerly the Solpro Business Park, and is an established business complex in the Don Valley/Attercliffe area of Sheffield. The area is an historic industrial location which continues to support a variety of businesses today. Some of the buildings enjoy a bankside location on the River Don. The complex is in the heart of the revitalised Don Valley with Sheffield City Centre approx 2 miles to the West and the M1 Motorway at junction 34 approx 2 miles to the East, therefore providing excellent local and regional transport links. Attercliffe is nearby which is an area that, like the Don Valley, has seen significant inward investment in the last few years (including the Olympic Legacy Park). The tram stops of Meadowhall and Attercliffe are also within easy reach.
