Dear Mr Foley

I shall be very grateful if you will put this application for replacement of the present X-ray table and screening stand at the County Infirmary by more modern apparatus.

These parts of the apparatus are very old and out of date, and lately some of the important parts have broken down making it still more difficult to do satisfactory work with them.

I have carried on for a time not knowing whether the opening of the Regional Hospital would cause the closing down of the Co Infirmary, but judging from the demand for beds in the Infirmary this now seems unlikely.

I have enquired from the three leading X-ray firms in Dublin and find that I can obtain a ~~tilting~~ tilting table of the modern type with special equipment for stomach work, for £500 all in. This will also fit in with the newer parts of the present apparatus - which are in excellent condition and well up to modern standards (namely the power plant X-ray tube and tube holding column etc).

No doubt part of the expenditure can be charged against income as replacements.

It is particularly in stomach work, an important section of X-ray diagnosis, that I am handicapped at present.

I am sorry that I have the flu and therefore will not be at the Infirmary tomorrow, but I think I have explained everything.

Sincerely yours
H G Roche Kelly (Roche Legent)
