

Adelphi March 26
1810

My dear Duke.

No order is necessary for sailing the northern ships, and on sending their names to the Commanding officer he will doubtless be happy to show every attention to the most interesting business in Europe, but if any difficulty should arise I trust the consideration of their performance

The Duke of Wellington

note will associate it. I myself intend to be at the Dockyard at Deptford on Saturday at one o'clock to see the ships & if I am able to go I should meet the young Lords I should be happy to assist to exhibit the wonders to them - Note None there are no wonders to exhibit -

Yours very dear & cheerful Gentle most faithfully

Whorke
