AMERICAN PSYCHO: BRET EASTON ELLIS' AMERICA 52'

In the early 1990s, the controversial publication of the novel American Psycho was a bombshell. The writer, Bret Easton Ellis, is revered, hated, misunderstood, and often confused with his characters. Sold in more than a million copies in the United States, this morbid book is a plunge into the sick mind of a serial killer yuppie.

This scandalous novel had been pilloried upon its release, its qualities only appearing later. When cooler heads prevailed, the world finally saw how accurate the author actually was. Politics, money, sexuality, capitalist frenzy, over-consumption: the book was a portrait of contemporary America against the backdrop of the West's decline.

FRANCIS FORD COPPOLA, IN THE HEART OF DARKNESS 52'

Is Francis Ford Coppola insatiable? After 26 films, of which at least 3 masterpieces, 5 Oscars and 2 Palmes d'Or at Cannes, and the director still isn't satisfied: he has yet to make what he calls his big film, Megalopolis. This is the question around which we already planned to build our film, when, last October – like a sea snake – the official announcement erupted that the director was going back to his oldest and perhaps most impossible project: Megalopolis. That sums up Coppola. The fire still burns in him, this will be our starting point.

PROVISIONAL DELIVERY: JULY 2021

Francis Ford Coppola's next film MEGAPOLIS is scheduled for the end of 2021.
