2.2. If Controller includes, or authorizes others to include, personal data in the content input into the Services or if personal data is generated in performance of the Services, the Controller represents that it is the Controller of those personal data or that it has, prior to agreeing to the provisions of this Addendum or extending the benefit of the Services to any new data controller, been instructed by or obtained the consent of the relevant data controller(s) to agree to the undertakings in this Addendum.

4. OBLIGATIONS OF THE PROCESSOR

4.1. Processor affirms that he, taking into account the state of the art, the costs of implementation and the nature, scope, context and purposes of processing, as well as the risk of varying likelihood and severity for the rights and freedoms of natural persons, has taken appropriate technical and organisational measures to ensure a level of security appropriate to the risk.

In particular, Processor commits himself to protect the Personal Data from destruction, loss, alteration, unauthorised disclosure or unauthorised access, whether accidental or unlawful.

4.2. Processor ensures that he, taking into account the nature of the processing, will assist Controller by appropriate technical and organisational measures in responding the requests for exercising the data subject's rights laid down in Chapter III of the GDPR, such as the right of access, rectification and erasure. If there any costs attached to this assistance, he can ask Controller to reimburse them on a reasonable basis.

In this regard, Processor will immediately inform Controller if he is directly contact by a data subject. He will not respond to that request, unless he has received authorization or mandate to do so from Controller.

4.3. Processor guarantees that he, taking into account the nature of the processing and the information available to him, assists Controller in ensuring compliance with the obligations regarding the security of Personal Data (as described by articles 32 to 34 GDPR), regarding data protection impact assessment (as described by article 35 GDPR) and the prior consultation (as described by article 36 GDPR). If there any costs attached to this assistance, he can ask Controller to reimburse them on a reasonable basis.

5. CONFIDENTIALITY

5.1. Processor ensures that the persons working under its management, who process personal data or access personal data in another way, maintain confidentiality as set out in Article 5.2.

5.2. Personal data as well as other information, instructions, system solutions, descriptions or other documents that Processor has access to following the Addendum, may not be disclosed or made use of for any other purpose than that specifically stated in the Addendum, neither directly nor indirectly, without having previously obtained Controller's written approval. This does not apply, however, to information which Processor can show was generally known or which has come to the knowledge of Controller from a third party without breach of the Addendum.

5.3. Processor will inform relevant staff of the content of the confidentiality obligations as set forth in this Addendum and ensures that all staff who engage in the processing of personal data are bound by equivalent confidentiality obligations.

5.4. The confidentiality obligations continue to apply after termination of the Addendum.

6. SUBPROCESSORS AND THIRD COUNTRY TRANSFERS

6.1. Controller acknowledges and agrees that Processor appoints another data processor ("Subprocessor") in connection with the provision of the Services. An updated list of Subprocessors can be found at Controller's website: <https://b4bit.be/role-statement.html>

6.2. Processor will notify Controller in advance of any changes to the list of Subprocessors, by using regular communication means such as customer newsletters, websites, and portals. If Controller reasonably objects to the addition of a new Subprocessor (e.g., such change causes Controller to be noncompliant with applicable Data Protection Laws), Controller shall notify Processor in writing of its specific objections within 15 working days of receiving such notification. If Customer does not object within such period or objects but does not terminate the Service, the addition of the new Subprocessor shall be considered accepted. If Controller does object to the addition of a new data Subprocessor and Processor cannot accommodate Controller' objection, Controller may terminate the Service.

6.3. Processor will never allow a new Subprocessor to process personal data until Customer accepts the Subprocessor or the Service is terminated, in accordance with Section 7.2.

6.4. If Processor engages a Subprocessor, a written data processing agreement shall be drawn up between Processor and the Subprocessor stating that the Subprocessor has the same obligations as Processor has towards Controller.

6.5. Processor ensures that Controller knows which Subprocessors process personal data by listing them on its website. Upon simple request by the Controller, Processor communicates complete, correct and updated information about all Subprocessors. This may include a copy of the subprocessing agreements, as the case may be excluding the financial regulation between Processor and Subprocessor.

6.6. If a Subprocessor does not comply with its obligations, Processor remains fully liable towards Controller for the processing carried out by the Subprocessor(s).

7. TRANSFER TO THIRD COUNTRIES

7.1. Processor ensures that he will not transfer or otherwise make available or accessible Personal Data to countries or international organisations outside the European Economic Area, unless he has received instruction hereto from the Controller or the conditions as set forth in Articles 44 tot 49 GDPR apply.

7.2. If a Subprocessor processes personal data in a third country for which there is no adequacy decision by the European Commission, Controller may authorise Processor to sign a data processing agreement on its behalf with that Subprocessor, in accordance with the requirements for third country transfers as specified in the Data Protection Laws.

8. AUDIT AND SUPERVISION

8.1. Controller has the right to check that Processor complies with the provisions of the Addendum and any additional instructions issued by Controller. This check will be performed through an audit, control or inspection by the Controller or, whether directly or indirectly, conducted by a person or organisation mandated by the Controller.

8.2. Processor shall give Controller access to its premises/infrastructure for the processing of data.

8.3. In this event, Processor, upon request of the Controller, discloses amongst others all information that is necessary to demonstrate that the obligation related to the intervention of a processor, as described by Article 28 GDPR, are complied with. This concerns in particular the information regarding the processing of personal data and the security measures that have been taken.

8.4. Audits shall take place during the ordinary office hours of Processor or by special agreement. Audits may not be more intrusive for Processor than necessary. The internal costs linked to these Audits, are borne by the Processor, unless they are exceptional.

9. DISCLOSURE OF INFORMATION

9.1. If the data subject, the supervisory authority or another third party requests information from Processor concerning the processing of personal data, Processor shall refer to Controller.

Processor may not disclose personal data or other information about the processing without first having obtained Controller's written approval. If Processor, through Belgian or European law or an instruction from a public authority, is obliged to disclose personal data, this will not be considered to be in breach of the Addendum, provided that Processor in connection with the disclosure requests that the data is treated as confidential and immediately notifies Controller about the disclosure unless Processor in accordance with Belgian or European law or the instruction of a public authority is prevented from doing so.

9.2. Processor shall without delay notify Controller in writing of any contacts from the supervisory authority that concern, or may be important to, the processing of personal data.

9.3. Processor does not have the right to represent Controller or act on its behalf towards the supervisory authority.

10. COMPENSATION FOR ADDITIONAL COSTS

10.1. Parties agree that in the event of additional cost arising from adjustments in written instructions, security regulations or other requests which are due to internal decisions by the Controller, the Controller shall bear this additional cost. This cost will be calculated on a reasonable basis, after concertation between Parties.

11. LIABILITY

11.1. Processor, in applying applicable legislation regarding the protection of personal data, is only liable for the damage caused by processing (1) where he has not complied with the obligations of the GDPR specifically directed to processors or (2) where he has acted outside or contrary to lawful instructions of the Controller.

11.2. Where applicable, Parties agree that any disputes or liability under this Addendum will be subject to the limitation and exclusions of liability in the Agreement.

12. PERIOD OF VALIDITY AND CESSATION OF PROCESSING

12.1. The Addendum applies for as long as Controller processes personal data on behalf of Controller.

12.2. Processor does not keep the personal data any longer than is necessary for the execution of this Agreement.

12.3. Unless otherwise required by applicable law, Processor will, upon termination or expiration of the Services, delete Controller's personal data within a reasonable period. However, Processor will return the Controller's personal data within a reasonable period in a reasonable and common format upon receiving written instructions from the Controller prior to termination or expiration. Processor shall have no obligation to return Customer's personal data to Controller if these data is available to Controller.

12.4. Processor will delete all existing copies of personal data and will, upon request of the Controller, confirm this deletion. If however applicable legislation contains an obligation to retain the personal data, Processor will inform Controller hereof, unless that legislation prohibits to give that information.

13. MISCELLANEOUS

13.1. This Agreement contains the entire agreement between Parties and does in no way contain an obligation to make personal data available to the Processor.

13.2. If one or more provisions of this Agreement are declared invalid or not enforceable, Parties will replace the said provision(s) by (a) valid and enforceable provision(s) that realize as much as possible the economic, commercial or other envisaged objectives of the provisions that were declared invalid or not enforceable. The other provisions of this Agreement will remain in force.

13.3. The mere fact that a Party does not insist on the strict application of a provision of the Agreement or does not enforce that, cannot be interpreted as a waiver of that Party's rights, unless this is confirmed in writing.

14. APPLICABLE LAW AND JURISDICTION

This agreement is governed by Belgian law.

Any dispute between the Parties will be settled by the court of the district where the main establishment of the Controller is located.
