DESCRIPTION

This maul is designed for enhanced strength, durability and overstrike protection. The induction hardened head is forged from high-quality, fine-grained special steel. Steel core is integrated into the shaft to provide added robustness. To improve control, the maul features a wider neck and a double-injected shaft reinforced with fibreglass. The handle is equipped with a non-slip grip that also helps reduce vibration during use.

Manufactured generally in accordance with BS 876
