FEATURES

- The beechwood stock provides a sturdy wooden base for holding the square against workpiece edges during marking and checking
- The brass-faced stock helps protect the contact surface against wear, supporting consistent use in regular woodworking tasks
- Three-rivet construction secures the blade to the stock, helping maintain a stable connection during repeated use
- Spring steel blade is correctly hardened and tempered to provide the strength and resilience needed for routine measuring and marking work

DESCRIPTION

The 150mm Expert try square is a precision woodworking tool designed to check right angles and mark accurate 90-degree lines when measuring, cutting and assembling materials. Ideal for carpenters, joiners, woodworking, and DIY, it features beechwood and brass-faced stock, three rivet construction, and a spring steel blade.
