Installing Artificial Grass Indoors

Installing Artificial Grass Indoors

Installing artificial grass indoors is growing in popularity across the UK for both commercial and domestic situations. Artificial grass is extremely versatile, and the latest versions are both natural-looking and as soft as the real thing.

Artificial grass offers some great opportunities to explore interior design ideas and is easy to install in most areas of the home.

Some homeowners are using good quality artificial grass as stair carpet and that isn't as weird as you might first think.

Synthetic lawn is extremely hard-wearing and easy to maintain, making it an unusual alternative to carpet, but not an unthinkable one.

Using offcuts of artificial grass to keep costs down

Artificial grass suppliers like us at PermaLawn, often have small offcuts that we will sell off at knock-down prices. PermaLawn also install artificial grass for both domestic and commercial projects, and there are occasionally medium-sized oddments available.

Offcuts are great for interior projects, especially for creating play areas and decorating with a difference. If you're re-covering furniture or creating some tactile walls in a playroom, artificial grass can be quickly and easily glued in place with a good adhesive.

You can usually find offcuts rolled up outside our premises and can always contact us to see what we have lying around. You never know, there may be an offcut in the ideal size you need, or maybe you can design your project around the offcut you find here.

Buying offcuts of artificial grass is a great cost-saving way to do it, but buying PermaLawn grasses by the square metre also gives you the flexibility to plan your projects in advance.

Buy the amount you need, knowing that your project can be completed.

Our wide range of grasses starts from just £9.97 per square metre for our Matlock artificial turf (33mm).
