Course Introduction

The course offers you: an opportunity to grow and learn more about yourself; the ability to take positive action; a clearer connection to the transpersonal realms of soul and spirit; ways of grounding creative energies and manifesting true life purpose; an improvement to your inner life and interpersonal relations.

You study and practice at home in a practical way with reading, writing, reflection, visualisations, drawing, self-observation, meditations and other exercises. You work at your own pace thus enabling you to integrate your learning into your daily life. Through careful tutoring, you are encouraged to utilise your own resources to successfully follow your unique journey of exploration.

Following the course work, combined with a personal project of your own choice, you keep a journal and send material at regular intervals for appraisal and comment. You work at connecting Psychosynthesis into your own life experiences, enabling it to become of living, meaningful value to your personal and spiritual development.

Whilst not obligatory, everyone is encouraged to engage in regular therapeutic work with a local practitioner. This can take many forms depending upon individual life need and circumstances, for example psychotherapy, counselling, body work or healing.

On completion of this course a Certificate is awarded to those students who demonstrate they are integrating Psychosynthesis into their lives. How long this takes depends upon your personal progress and rate of work, but the twelve lessons of Course 1 average one to two years to complete. Once completed a student will be invited to take the Diploma Course to deepen their connection with Psychosynthesis.
