

WCI Insight

Helping you identify risks, interpret market developments and anticipate price movements

The ICIS WCI Insight is a blend of behavior-driven analysis, carbon price forecasts and exclusive news for the WCI (Western Climate Initiative) schemes, all compiled and delivered by our trusted team of analysts and journalists. Whether you are new to the carbon markets and just need the basics, or you are a seasoned operator looking for a robust expert opinion, we will help you gain a market advantage.

Expert carbon analysis giving you deeper insight

Our analysts know what works in these markets – they appreciate you want concise, executable information and opinions, not lengthy reports. They also understand that simply providing the facts only takes you so far.

Consequently, our analysts dig much deeper to provide insight on policy/regulatory risks, why the market reacted the way it did and how it will react in the future. Furthermore, all our analysis is underpinned by our robust, trusted analytical approach – the Timing Impact Model.
