

What is the community currency?

Community Currency is a cryptocurrency, which we envision will be given as a reward in the future, for using Colu at local businesses.

How can I get Community Currency?

Our plan is that in a few months, Community Currency will soon be awarded when you make purchases at local businesses with Colu. During the coming months, we will let you know exactly how you will be able to participate in the Community Currency scheme.

Where can I spend Community Currency?

In the future, local businesses which welcome payment via the Colu mobile app will be given the option to receive Community Currency in exchange for goods. You will be able to spend the Community Currency with businesses which choose to accept it

When can I start using Community Currency?

We expect that it will become operational within the coming months. In preparation for this, we plan that you will soon be awarded Community Currency when you use Colu to make local purchases.

Why is Colu reducing the existing top-up bonus?

The 10% top-up bonus has been a real success. It has helped us build active communities in 4 locations. However, our plan has always been to help small businesses, local economies and ultimately communities prosper, through the creation of a token economy. The new rewards model is a step towards achieving this.

Who paid for the 10% top-up bonus up until this point?

Until now, Colu has financed the 10% top-up bonus, fuelled by our commitment to help small businesses, local economies and ultimately communities, to prosper.

Will all bonuses in regular currency be removed and replaced with Community Currency?

For the coming period, you will receive a 5% top-up bonus. However, we plan to eventually replace this entirely with Community Currency as a reward for making purchases with Colu. We believe that this is a rewards model which is both advantageous for individual users and strengthens the wider community.

What determines the value of Community Currency?

The monetary value of Community Currency may be impacted by a number of factors - These include the volume of transactions involving the Colu wallet and Community Currency, and changes in the wider cryptocurrency market.

I already received Community Currency. What can I do with it?

You may have already received Community Currency as part of our recent initial campaign for existing Colu users. You can view the number of Community Currency coins you have under 'My Account' within the Colu app.

In the future, our vision is a community where you'll be able to buy day-to-day things with your Community Currency. That can be coffee, lunch, or even that after-work pint with friends.

Why does Community Currency matter and how can it affect my local community?

By rewarding everyday individuals for supporting local businesses we encourage more money to flow to local businesses. We think this is extremely important as small businesses are the backbone of our community.

We also believe that Community Currency empowers individuals by giving them a stake in their local communities. Owning Community Currency represents your strong identification with your local community - it makes you a stakeholder in your local economy.

Why should I continue to use Colu?

Where do we begin?! On an individual level, you will continue receiving bonuses, enabling you to purchase more coffee, another lunch, a new shirt, or whatever you wish. Colu will continue to be simple and convenient to use, even after the introduction of Community Currency. And by using Colu, especially the Community Currency, you will also be helping realize the vision of a local economy with community at its center.
