I appeal to the Government to examine urgently the relation between nuclear fallout and AIDS, while initiating immediately mass voluntary testing of all males in the 30 to 40 age group for evidence of radiation damage to bone, blood and tissue.

I also appeal to the Government to examine methods of sueing Governments and industries where there is reasonable proof that these have caused leukaemias and other sicknesses, including AIDS, in our society. Where there is no framework for such international legal action I further appeal to the Government to consult with interested countries with a view to establishing such a framework.

I appeal to the Government to indicate that it will support, in every way possible, any individual who can show reasonable proof of radiation injury by identifiable Governments or industries, and who may wish to seek damages from those Governments and industries.
