

Licensed course content from the Stanford Center for Professional Development, part of the Digital Transformation Lead program by OpenClassrooms.

Organizational analysis

Daniel A. McFarland

Professor of Education, Sociology, and Organizational Behavior, Stanford University

Leading innovation

Robert Sutton

Professor of Management Science and Engineering, Stanford University

Pitching and Storytelling

Pedram Mokrian

Adjunct Professor, Civil and Environmental Engineering Stanford University

Data-Driven Storytelling: From Evidence to Impact

Cheryl Phillips

Visiting Professor in Professional Journalism, Stanford University

Turn Data into Insights with Predictive Modeling

Ramesh Johari

Professor of management science and engineering and, by courtesy, of electrical engineering, Stanford University

Work Smarter with Crowdsourcing

Michael Bernstein

Associate Professor, Human-Computer Interaction Group, Computer Science Department, Stanford University

Enhancing User Experience with Human-Computer Interaction

Cybersecurity for Executive strategy

Neil Daswani

Chief Information Security Officer, LifeLock (acquired by Symantec)

John Mitchell

Professor of Computer Science and, by courtesy, of Electrical Engineering, Stanford University

Dan Boneh

Professor of Computer Science and of Electrical Engineering, Stanford University

Systems Leadership: Managing Uncertainty in the Digital Age

Robert Siegel

Lecturer in Management. Stanford GSB Faculty, Center for Entrepreneurial Studies, Stanford University

The Industrialist's Dilemma: How to Adapt to a Changing Landscape

Scaling Excellence

Hayagreeva Rao

Professor of Organizational Behavior, Stanford Graduate School of Business

Rethinking Teams: Designing for the Modern Workforce

Melissa Valentine

Assistant Professor of Management Science and Engineering, Stanford University