Manager Commentary

Russian equities were weak in May, underperforming other emerging markets due to the threat of tougher sanctions, cheapening oil and the Rosneft-Sistema dispute. Meanwhile, European and American stock markets climbed smoothly to new heights. A downturn looks unlikely on developed markets, where appetite for shares remains strong.

The dividend season is approaching in Russia, which may provide temporary support to equities. The ruble, like domestic shares, is under pressure from sanctions and weak oil.

We sold GDRs of AFK Sistema and TMK, as well as shares of First Solar Inc. and Nokia Oyj. We bought GDRs of MD Medical Group and increased our position in shares of NCSP.
