

FEBRUARY 2018

FRIDAY 16/2

After a relatively boring day in labs, modifying a PCB in Photoshop of all things, I left at 1700 with Adrian, Erin, and Matthieu bound for Gort. We did the shopping and arrived in Carran soon after Joe and Angela.

SATURDAY 17/2

Went to Poll Gonzo with Adam J., Erin, Jill, and Matthieu, still easy to find but once again the waterfall pitch was very wet and only Matthieu went down it. It is just a sump after all!

We also had a strange instance with a bat who decided it would be a great idea to take a nap hanging from our rope. Unsure whether to move the little guy or not we left him and headed on towards the second pitch. When we returned he was gone. Despite a quick search no trace was found.

We were due to go to Poll na gColm and take the fly-over route, however we didn't as only Jill had been there but didn't feel comfortable leading it. We did head to Lisdoonvarna though to get milk, bread, cheese and beer, some of which we hadn't bought enough of the night before.

SUNDAY 18/2

This morning we made crepes instead of our usual fry. A great idea which didn't leave us heavy and bloated. I headed to derig Poll Eilbhe with Angela, Joe, Adam J. and Jill. I carried up the rope nice bit of a work out, not too slowly either.

Afterwards we dropped Joe and Angela to Carran, and headed on to Gort and Dublin. I made it home at a minute past 9.
