Decosit announces dates for 2021 edition

The reference trade fair for upholstery and decoration fabrics will be held on 14-15 September in Brussels

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, many trade fairs have been postponed or cancelled. This was also the case for the Decosit 2020 edition. In the meantime, the organisation assumes that the situation will have improved by September 2021. Therefore, we are delighted to announce that we have started preparing the upcoming Decosit fair, fully taking hygiene and safety measures into account.

On 14 and 15 September 2021 the trade fair will return to Brussels, and it will be bigger than before: in a separate area, international studios and designers will have the possibility to present their designs. So, at the beginning of Autumn, Decosit will offer a unique networking place for both producers and designers.

We strongly believe in a very successful upcoming edition since there is a large demand for personal sales interaction and better targeted regional events. The broad offer of interior textiles – ranging from upholstery fabrics to window and wall coverings – gathered in the heart of Europe, is of great interest to both producers and buyers. Being entirely organized by and for all professionals from the sector, Decosit is the European reference trade fair for upholstery and decoration fabrics. Combined with the sophisticated appearance inside Hall 10, a restored Art Deco hall at Brussels Expo, Decosit's location is perfectly adapted for the interior networking event of the season.

Decosit's early-bird registration has just started and will be open until the end of February 2021. Given the strange and difficult business times, we've decided to maintain our 2020 price levels.

More info will follow shortly at www.decosit.brussels.
