

Sessional Rugby Coach

Are you a passionate and committed sports person? Do you want to get involved in developing the next generation of rugby players? Then you could be the right person for our rugby coach positions.

The purpose of the role is to provide coaching to our junior rugby sections. This requires providing a fun and safe environment for junior members to develop their rugby playing skills

Main Duties:

- Deliver rugby development coaching sessions in accordance with Grangemouth Stags coaching principles.
- Plan training sessions to develop the skills and capabilities of junior players
- Provide coaching that reflects current practice and stay updated on coaching developments in rugby.
- Represent the club in public situations
- Apply flexibility in approaches to reflect changing needs and requirements of players and training circumstances
- Other suitable duties as agreed with the Director of Rugby

Qualifications – sports coaching qualifications (rugby preferred but not essential) at minimum UKCC Level 1 or equivalent. We are more interested in enthusiastic, dedicated, and proactive candidates who have a passion for sport.

We will support and fund the successful candidate(s) on more advance coaching certification.

This post will be paid. Current rates are £10.50-£12.50 per hour based on qualifications and experience. Travel expenses may be paid for the right candidate.

Training sessions are Tuesday from 6-7pm and Sundays from 10-12. With matches on Sundays

You will require to undergo a Protection of Vulnerable Groups check as this post involves working with children.

If you would like to discuss this role, please contact David Jamieson on 07917 693099.

A CV and Covering letter describing your interests and suitability for this post should be sent to info@grangemouthstags.com
