GBGB LAUNCHES NEW WEBSITE

GBGB has launched a brand new website – www.gbgb.org.uk – which brings together the existing features of its current site with a whole suite of upgrades that help bring the sport into the digital age.

The website, which has GBGB's eight-point Greyhound Commitment at its heart, was developed in response to calls from across the industry to better reflect the sport's widespread audiences, world-class integrity and ambitious welfare agenda. It has been created by website and app development agency Mobile 5 with input from Event Log Ltd who operate GBGB's registry system.

The new site represents a considerable upgrade on its predecessor – maintaining and building on all the previous functions but making it more responsive, mobile-optimised and user-friendly. It sets out key information about GBGB's role as regulator and its work to uphold the sport's high welfare and integrity standards through the Greyhound Commitment. It still provides open race information and high-speed race results, but also includes more comprehensive track information and features – such as a geolocation search tool and social feeds.

My Kennel, GBGB's log-in station for fans to keep track of their favourite dogs, will also be receiving a boost. In the coming weeks, those working within the industry will have access to their own bespoke user accounts. This will allow GBGB to post more content direct to its licensed trainers, owners and vets, including important integrity and welfare notices. Owners will also be able to upload photos of their greyhounds – be that on the podium or on the sofa – to be featured on the site, celebrating the lives of the canine athletes at the heart of the sport.

Mark Bird, Managing Director of GBGB, said:

“The launch of this new site gives us the platform we need to properly illustrate our sport's outstanding integrity, our commitment to welfare and the expertise contained within the industry. What the website demonstrates is how important the Greyhound Commitment is in the running of the sport and its central place in our sport's successful future.”

Tom Huntley, GBGB's IT Manager, said:

“We're really excited for everyone to see our new and improved website, which we'll be continuing to develop and add to over the coming weeks and months. We hope that everyone across the industry will enjoy using the new site and seeing what's still to come, including the bespoke log-ins for GBGB licence holders.

“Please bear with us through any initial teething issues – we'll be working hard post-launch to make sure everything is running smoothly across mobile and desktop.”
