

Before the performance

On the west wall of the house, growing through a very old yew, is a white wisteria – possibly the tallest in the country. Beneath it is the White Wisteria Champagne bar.

We are building a second champagne bar in the new colonnade around the theatre – and close to the drop-off area.

Champagne & canapés

Individual tables are set aside for pre-ordered champagne & canapés

A plate of 16 homemade canapés (pre-ordered)	£20
A bowl of mixed nuts	£4
A bowl of mixed olives	£4
A glass of Laurent-Perrier Brut	£13
Laurent-Perrier Brut	£66
Laurent-Perrier Vintage	£92
Laurent-Perrier Rosé	£112
Laurent-Perrier Grand Siècle	£200

The Long Interval

We are not offering the 35-courses (which included stork, gannet, heron, quail, fresh sturgeon, blancmange and carp) enjoyed by Henry VIII at West Horsley Place.

However, our three courses with fine wines will provide a memorable centrepiece to your evening. It is served in:

The Walnut Tree Restaurant – in the orchard

The Duchess Restaurant – in the 15th century house – is named after Mary, Duchess of Roxburghe, the former châtelaine

For the first time, The Red Drawing Room will be open for two tables of ten guests. There will be a premium to cover extra staff.

For a more bucolic, free-form approach, you may picnic in the grounds: under an apple tree . . . or on the so-called Venerable Spongy Lawn. In the Crinkle-Crinkle garden (and elsewhere) there are pavilions with tables and chairs, ready for you to arrange your feast.

Fortnum & Mason is standing by to help out with a Grange Park Opera hamper.