

DANIEL'S STORY

How to make money from the other side of the Atlantic

The Challenge

Daniel is a creative director based in LA. He needed to find a company to manage his London property and meet a minimum income expectation to cover his outgoings.

Hostmaker's expert pricing and reservations team used a clever mixture of short and medium-term lets to make the most of seasonal demand and maximise rental income.

Daniel handed control over to us so we could make him money while he got on with his work in California.

The Benefits

The experienced account managers at Hostmaker went above and beyond to ensure that Daniel's income expectations weren't just met, they were constantly exceeded, month after month.

Daniel was so pleased with Hostmaker's management that he recommended that Paul, a fellow landlord and friend of his, use Hostmaker's management service and he has since signed up his home in South Kensington.
