

Internet Space

The internet is a different place,
It can be considered as part of its' own race,
With people competing for the most likes,
And posting thoughts and pictures as the speed of motorbikes.

Do you really consider the cause and effect?
With words you can't take back, do you check?
Or do you let the words flow,
Without a thought to those who receive the blow?

The internet can make you feel,
It can help you live, discover and reveal.
With new games, songs and videos for your entertainment,
Do you think that the Internet is your sustainment?

When online, my thoughts disappear,
And concentrate on the beautiful books and stories that are near.
With songs floating around me brain,
I listen carefully and the information from it I gain.

When chatting to friends online,
Time flies by without a sign.
We talk about important matters,
But also about fun conversations that scatter.

For those of you who like to game,
I bet when you finish, the feelings always remain.
With all those thoughts about who and how to beat,
I bet that you try hour after hour, just to avoid defeat.

Watching videos can be fun,
But do you consider all the work for it that has been done?
With words, lyrics, love and hate,
The videos impact us with an emotional weight.

So when you're on the internet next,
Consider everyone around you and being safe with that text.

With words that can be sent in seconds,
Consider who sent and who receives, not what beckons.

So for all of you on this Internet Safety Day,
Consider your safety, then be on your way!
