Little bit about Leigh on Sea!

The coastal town of Leigh-on-Sea, which sits at the mouth of the Thames estuary as it meets the channel, has been named the happiest place to live for the second time in three years. Dating back to Saxon times, Leigh-on-Sea is still an active fishing town with well-established events such as the Leigh Regatta and Leigh Folk Festival. Leigh-on-Sea has a rich history dating back to Medieval times, mentioned in the Domesday Book as "Legra" the Town was a small manor with livestock and fisherman, and said to be worth 100 shillings.

Over a thousand years the Town increased from a small village to a busy fishing town of national importance, trading between the 14th and 18th centuries. It's position on the Thames made it a crucial point for protection from the French, Spanish and Dutch armies and as a fast route across the Channel.

A little history on the building!

St Ann 's was Southend's no.1 choice for builders' supplies, tools, bathrooms, showers, sinks and taps.

It opened for business in 1895, was founded by William Henry Sharpe, who originally traded as a glazier.

The name was changed from W.H. Sharpe to St Ann's in 1908.

Deliveries were made by horse-drawn vehicles, and factory processed sheet materials using belt-driven machinery.
