About the property

A rare opportunity to acquire an exceptional former 16th Century water mill, beautifully positioned at the edge of a river meadow within the picturesque River Trothy valley, extending to approximately 3.37 acres (awaiting verification).

Rich in history and period character, Wonastow Mill offers substantial accommodation arranged over four floors, combining historic charm with versatile family living. Features include elegant reception rooms, a fitted kitchen with electric AGA, wine cellar, sauna and five bedroom areas, one of which is accessed via a ladder and ideally suited as an occasional room, studio or study.

The property is complemented by an excellent range of outbuildings including three stables, tack room, storage barn and a substantial detached workshop building currently used as a training facility, with planning permission for conversion to a three-bay garage.

Further benefits include fishing rights along the River Trothy, a private well supplying water to the gardens, solar panels with Feed-In Tariff income, extensive parking and a wonderfully private rural setting.

Situated within the sought-after parish of Mitchel Troy, approximately two miles from Monmouth, the property enjoys the perfect balance of countryside seclusion and accessibility, with excellent road links via the nearby A40.

Accommodation

Summary

A rare opportunity to acquire an exceptional former 16th Century water mill, occupying a magical setting at the edge of a river meadow within the beautiful River Trothy valley, extending to approximately 3.37 acres (awaiting verification).

Steeped in history and rich in period character, Wonastow Mill is an atmospheric country home of immense charm, blending centuries-old heritage with versatile family living and excellent equestrian and lifestyle facilities. The property enjoys a wonderfully private setting surrounded by the rolling Monmouthshire countryside, whilst remaining conveniently positioned for access to Monmouth and the wider road network.

The accommodation is arranged over four floors and offers a wealth of original features throughout. At cellar level is a wine cellar together with a sauna, creating a unique and characterful retreat. The ground floor centres around a welcoming entrance hall leading to a beautifully proportioned dining room, study, generous reception room and a traditional fitted kitchen complete with electric AGA. The kitchen itself benefits from a historic enlargement, believed to have been added more than a century ago, sympathetically enhancing the scale of the original mill. A separate wood store with independent external access is also located on the ground floor.

Outbuildings

The outbuildings are a particular feature of the property and lend themselves to a variety of uses. These include three stables, a tack room and a storage barn, together with a substantial detached workshop building currently utilised as a training facility. Importantly, the building benefits from planning permission for conversion to a three-bay garage and is fitted with three pairs of double doors together with separate side access, presenting excellent potential for garaging, workshop space, classic car storage or ancillary business use.

Further useful external stores include a covered area adjacent to the rear entrance and a charming potting shed within the gardens.

Location

The setting is truly exceptional. Positioned within the sought-after parish of Mitchel Troy, approximately two miles south-west of Monmouth, the property lies within one of Monmouthshire's most picturesque rural landscapes. Fishing rights are enjoyed along the boundary of the River Trothy, further enhancing the lifestyle appeal of this unique home.

Despite its peaceful and secluded atmosphere, the property remains highly accessible via the nearby A40, providing excellent connections to Ross-on-Wye,

Newport and the M4 corridor. Wonastow Mill represents a rare combination of historic significance, lifestyle versatility and idyllic countryside living in one of South Wales' most desirable locations.
