

Set within a well-established terrace on Station Road, this handsome three bedroom Victorian home has been the subject of a comprehensive renovation to a high standard by its current owner, thoughtfully reconfigured into a cohesive family home over several years. Original character has been retained wherever possible, with period details including skirting, architraves, coving and ceiling roses sympathetically reinstated. The high ceilings are complemented by commercial-grade wood-effect flooring across the ground floor, while the property has been fully rewired and replumbed and fitted with an internet/app-controlled heating system, cast-iron-style radiators and independently controlled heated towel rails. Energy efficiency has been carefully considered throughout, with replacement insulated ground floors, upgraded wall insulation, 300mm of loft insulation and double-glazed sash-style windows all contributing to a warmer, more efficient home without compromising on period character. This is a home that has been sympathetically modernised rather than simply redecorated, with the quality of the unseen work matching the beauty of the finish.

A smart entrance opens into a welcoming hallway with bespoke fitted cloakroom storage - coat, boot and hat storage with integrated bench and mirror - alongside a stylish guest WC with wall-hung sanitaryware and heated illuminated mirror. To the front of the house, the dining room retains a beautifully refurbished original marble fireplace with period coving and ceiling rose, plus generous under-stairs storage.

The kitchen forms the true heart of the home, fully fitted with integrated NEFF appliances beneath quartz worktops, an instant boiling and filtered water tap, and hidden lighting, with side access out to the garden and a secure, externally accessed bike store. This flows through into a purpose-built living room extension, where a flush ceiling finish, large roof lantern with integrated electric blind and full-width bi-fold doors flood the space with light and open directly onto the garden - ideal for both everyday family life and entertaining. A separate utility room with laundry and drying space completes the ground floor.
