In order to fully prepare pupils for their next stage of education and contribute to their ability to take a full, active and meaningful role in the society they are joining.

School

We endeavour to provide first quality teaching of the highest standard to ensure all pupils fulfil their potential. The ethos of the school is to provide an environment in which everyone who works or volunteers within it is a valued member of the school team, enabled to benefit from training and the experience of mentors to develop personal and professional skills.

It is a place where lifelong learning is valued and celebrated and one in which skills are maximised for the benefit of all.

Pupils

Pupils are at the heart of all decisions made and developing their academic , social and economic wellbeing is central to our ethos Programmes to support achievement and social skills are actively promoted to ensure that no child is left behind and that we are constantly striving to narrow the gap for each and every vulnerable pupil.

Staff

The full leadership team constantly look for challenge and seek out examples of good practice to enrich the provision at Inmans. They ensure staff members have the opportunity to develop their skills and support a range of initiatives which enable staff to do this.

Wherever and whenever appropriate governors support succession planning in order to ensure that the principles and good practice of the school is maintained whilst at the same time having an openness to new and innovative ideas which continue to support the core principles of education at Inmans.
