

Millie and Ruby's Half Term Snail Trail

Snail Diary, Day One, Friday 12th February

Penguin and Jerry are doing great, they have tried their first strawberry jam sandwich, had a shower and also had a leisurely stroll along dad's hand. We noticed cucumber must be their favourite as they seem to be making kind of a cucumber tunnel through middle. They even watched Mr Maker on CBeebies perhaps for ideas on how to make a tunnel?

Snail Diary, Day two, Saturday 13th February

Penguin and Jerry were a little grumpy today, they had to be taken out of their plant pot. Seemed brighter when they had some fresh cucumber, a leaf or two of lettuce and a shower.

Snail Diary, Day three, Sunday 14th February

It's Valentine's Day, love is in the air and Penguin and Jerry think so too, THEY LOVE LETTUCE! Mr Maker on again today so I think we will all sit and watch before going out. The heating is on so Penguin and Jerry will certainly be warm enough, looks like we may have some snow today! (BRRRRRR)

Snail Diary, Day four, Monday 15th February

Penguin and Jerry tried some apple today and seemed to enjoy it, had a shower and settled down into their plant pot hiding place.

Snail Diary, Day five, Tuesday 16th February

Another day, another cucumber tunnel, they are getting very good at making these!

Snail Diary, Day six, Wednesday 17th February

2 grumpy snails today or maybe they wanted breakfast in bed? Anyway Penguin and Jerry finally got out of bed and had a shower (with some help) and had a crawl around the table where Dad's computer lives. Maybe they were trying to send an email.

Snail Diary, Day seven, Friday 19th February

It's Millie's birthday today. Penguin and Jerry joined the party but didn't want cake just a big pile of lettuce, YUM!

Snail Diary, Day eight, Saturday 20th February

Penguin and Jerry had a fun day today, they had a race! The first one to the cucumber wins! An hour later the race had to be called off due to it being dinner time. I think Jerry would have won!

Snail Diary, Day nine, Sunday 21st February

It's Sunday! Penguin and Jerry had a lazy day; they didn't get out of bed until dinner time! Had a shower and a snack then back to bed they went.

Snail Diary, Day ten, Monday 22nd February

Penguin and Jerry return to the Wood land Unit tomorrow, I hope they have enjoyed themselves, they seem to have, Mr Maker on this afternoon maybe they will sit and watch.

We have all enjoyed looking after Penguin and Jerry, Dad wants to get some snails of his own instead of the fish, and Mum says there's plenty of snails in the garden that are eating my plants!