Attainment made by Ever6 children – July 2016

Due to the 2014 curriculum changes, children's attainment has been determined using a newly implemented method of assessment. However, this method of assessing attainment does not correlate accurately with the previous National Curriculum Levels therefore the data presented below (where appropriate) shows attainment of children from a baseline score in September 2014.

The data presented shows that the Ever 6 children make roughly the same progress and in some cases more progress when compared to the whole year group.
