

Asulox Supplies for United Kingdom

October 2011

Following the recent announcement of the non approval of Asulam in the European Union, we would like to clarify the situation regarding the future supply of Asulox. United Phosphorus Limited (UPL) would like to confirm that both we and our distribution network are legally allowed to sell Asulox up until 31st December 2011.

After careful supply chain planning we can confirm that we are able to provide the volumes of product as we have supplied in previous years, however we strongly encourage all end users to contact their suppliers with their requested volumes for use in 2012 by 31st October 2011. This timeline has been set so that we have adequate opportunity to be able to distribute the product.

Please be aware that final users of the product have until 31st December 2012 to store and use the product. We strongly advise customers and end users to plan their requirements carefully to avoid over-stocking.

United Phosphorus Limited will be unable to take back any stocks of unused product from those who have taken the decision to speculatively accumulate product for 2012 season. It is the responsibility of the end user to ensure that their stock has been used by 31st December 2012 and ensure that they comply with the legal requirements.
