Assistant Headteacher

Northbury Primary School

I have been teaching for over 20 years now and am currently Assistant Headteacher at Northbury Primary School in Barking. I have been head of year across the junior school so have a wide range of teaching experiences.

Science

We are a PSQM school and we have just submitted to renew this and upgrade to Gold. We have also achieved the Space Education Quality Mark- Gold standard.

In a wider role, I am a member of the ASE Primary Science Committee and also a Primary Science Teaching Trust fellow, which means I was awarded 'Science Teacher of the Year' in 2012.

I believe in very practical science and making science fun, accessible and enjoyable. I am currently working on assessment across the school and also building in more STEM opportunities across the school.
