20th March 2017

Shakespeare Festival

The Shakespeare festival is just around the corner so I was very pleased to recently receive an email with the details. The performance will take place in Beaumont Park at 4.45pm on Friday 31st March. It is a very informal setup this year with each school performing their segments on the bandstand. Therefore, tickets aren't required.

John Cotgrave, the organiser of the festival has assured me that the whole performance should be finished by 6.30pm. If you are there before, you are more than welcome to take the children earlier to watch the rest of the performance. Our part is early on in the performance.

Please could you make sure the children are at Beaumont Park by 4.15pm, half an hour before the performance.

The organisers have asked us to highlight the following: parents must not leave the performance once their child's performance is over. We have had many incidents now of parents/carers/ family and friends leaving and the final schools are missing out on their work being shared and appreciated. The taking of photographs / videos is strictly forbidden.

Costumes

Our children will wear black trousers or skirt (school uniform is fine) dark shoes and a top of the following colour: Prospero – Purple or Gold, Miranda – White and Caliban – brown.

Regards

Russell Horsfall
