

Dear Visitor,

I am delighted to be able to welcome you to our school website. It has been produced with the intention of helping you to understand more about us and the education your child will receive during their time at Foxmoor School. Most of the day-to-day and pastoral information that parents need can be found in the two 'Parents' Handbooks' which are found in the parents' section of the site; I do urge you to read them with your child.

Our school has a tradition of providing a forward-thinking, lively and stimulating education that encourages close links with the local community and has a clear commitment to high standards. The staff and governors aim to give every child the best education possible, through excellent teaching that is based on the needs of the individual child, and by providing learning opportunities of the highest quality in a creative and broad curriculum. We work very hard to provide a happy, caring and secure environment in which all children can succeed with confidence.

We are very conscious that our current pupils were all born in the 21st century, some of them will welcome in the 22nd century - they might even still be part of the work force! It is a daunting thought, but an exciting challenge, to prepare them for the rapidly changing world of work and experiences that they will encounter over the next century.

We are very keen that, through their work and experiences, children gain not only knowledge and understanding, but also the skills and confidence, self-discipline and motivation that will enable them to become successful, enthusiastic, learners. We encourage our pupils to be independent thinkers who are not afraid of meeting new challenges and taking risks; they will need this flexibility and innovation in their new world. Great emphasis is also placed on helping children to develop the personal and social skills which will enable them to become valued and responsible members of the school, local and global communities.

The staff, governors and I are very proud of Foxmoor School and we are committed to ensuring that both the children and staff enjoy and achieve during their time with us.

If you have any queries, would like to know more or would like to visit, please don't hesitate to contact the school.

*Yours sincerely,
Nanette Maycock
