Writing

Think about a real life hero/good role model and write a list of qualities you need to have. Think about why they are a good role model.

Do they look after you or others? What do they do that makes you feel proud? What special job do they have?

Phonics

Practice reading your Phase 2 and 3 sounds, looking at real and nonsense words. You can play Picnic on Pluto, Buried Treasure and Dragon's Den.

You will find these free games at:

Practice reading, writing and saying your numbers to 100. Think of a number and practice saying one more and one less.

Art/D&T

Design your own super villain and make a sculpture of them. Think about a name. What super evil power will they have? What colours will you use for their costume? Will you use cold or warm colours? Will they have a special symbol?

Healthy Eating

Design and create your own healthy breakfast, lunch or meal for a real life hero. How could you keep them nice and strong? What foods would you give them? How could you make it a balanced meal? What would you include and why? Think about the healthy eat well food plate and the different sections you should be covering.

You could think of a recipe for a hero to follow. You could design a healthy lunch box or you could make a healthy fruit salad

Art/English

Design a new vegetable friend for Supertato and describe what role they would play. You could draw or paint a vegetable friend. Try to use warm and cold colours as we have been learning about these in our Art lessons. Also see if you can write a mini adventure for your new character.
