Emma Hope was a usual 16 year old who had to leave school early. Nobody knows why! She lived in a dull flat, in England. Poor Emma had no job & but put all of her hope into one day earning money by becoming a vet. Her dream is to help someone or even an animal so she could do something right for a change! Everyone that saw her ran away, caused by her look. She tried her best to look happy and approachable. No! Everyone ~~just~~ still just ran. One ordinary morning, the poor, caring girl rose out of her bed. The only thing in the world who was always there with open paws for her was her pet. Trixie was a golden retriever. She loved her owner with all of her heart. From Emma's side of the world, she was trapped with her favourite thing inside a hole of darkness. She hated.

being outside. She always felt like she was a mean, empty ghost. As usual, she headed to the lake. It glistened like a gem in a protected room. This place always painted a warm smile on Emma's ~~fast~~ face. She glared into the lake, expecting to see her regular reflection. Peering over, she ~~was~~ could not believe her eyes. In her whole life, she had not realised this amazing thing. She had a special power to transform. To transform into a beautiful, normal, young lady who someone would walk past instead of ~~of~~ running away. Finally, her simple wish had come true. From then on, Emma could walk into the street and talk to people who liked her. Ten years later of greeting the city and living with her beautiful, sweet golden retriever, Emma finally made her dream come true! She had persuaded the manager to become a vet! After trying this, he finally had agreed. The last thing she had wished for was to find her unknown family. This would be a ~~miric~~ miracle! There she went, off to travel around the world to find her lost family!
