About World Book Day

Due to the snow days last week we are now celebrating World Book Day on Thursday 16th March. This will involve a variety of writing and reading activities and of course the opportunity to exchange a voucher for a book. We are not dressing up this year as we are planning to do this during Sports Relief later in the month.

Author Antony Wootten's visit has been rescheduled for after the Easter Holidays.

100 Million Minutes Reading Challenge 2018

We are very excited to announce that we have just signed up for the 100 Million Minutes Reading Challenge 2018 – a national reading initiative from education charity Achievement for All.

Together with schools, early years settings and community groups up and down the country, children and young people will try to read for a collective 100 million minutes.

Up to two in five children in disadvantaged communities across the UK have difficulties with literacy. We know that introducing all children and young people to the habit of reading in everyday life can improve communication skills and brighten future prospects.

The challenge kicked off on World Book Day (Thursday 1st March 2018) and will run until Thursday 29th March. Each week we'll be adding our reading minutes to our overall score, and doing our best to come out on top.

Any reading minutes that your child does at home can be recorded on the weekly bookmark sent home today. Pupils can give their completed bookmark to their class teacher each Friday to be entered into our fantastic prize draw.

Find out how you can help to eradicate child illiteracy and brighten futures at www.100MillionMinutes.org.
