MAKE SIGNIFICANT SAVINGS ON OUR COLLECTIONS

British Online Archives is offering a unique opportunity for Jisc member institutions to make significant savings on its most popular primary source collections.

This will allow your students to benefit from expanded access to primary resources, helping them to gain a greater understanding of their chosen subjects, and, hopefully, secure better grades in the process.

Our collections cover a diverse range of subjects and time periods, from colonialism and the world wars to political activism and military intelligence.

Each collection is divided into intuitive volumes and accompanied by reference tags, making them ideal for undergraduates and postgraduates, as well as researchers.

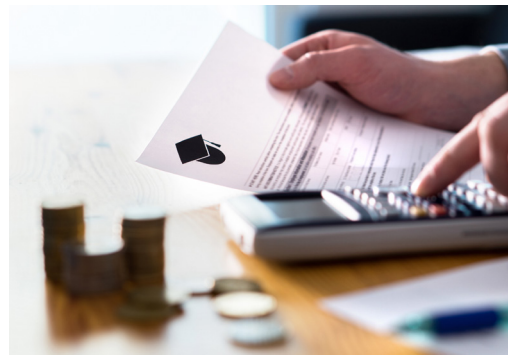

Collections made available on the framework have been selected based on their relevance to the subjects that are currently being taught and researched in British universities.

All are multi-disciplinary.

So, why not join an ever-growing number of universities from across the globe who enjoy access to our unique content.

NO ANNUAL FEES

All collections on the framework are available for outright purchase.

There are no annual access fees, which means you pay exactly what is advertised.

Our transparent pricing structure lets you get on with providing for your students.

Jisc member institutions gain access to purchased content immediately without having to pay a penny until the end of the current academic year.

It's a simple concept: the more you buy, the more you save. The scheme guarantees a minimum saving of 20% off the list price of all the products on offer, with the potential to expand to beyond 30% depending on uptake.

ABOUT US

British Online Archives is one of the United Kingdom's leading academic publishers.

Our goal is to provide students and researchers in the humanities and social sciences with access to unique collections of primary source documents.

To this end, our website hosts over 3 million records drawn from both private and public archives. These records are organised thematically, covering 1,000 years of world history, from politics and warfare to slavery and medicine.
