Types of data processed

a) Navigation data

Computer systems and software procedures used on this website acquire, during their normal operation, some personal data whose transmission is implicit in use of Internet communication protocols.

This information is not collected to be associated with identified data subjects, but by their nature, could, through processing and association with data held by third parties, identify users. This category includes IP addresses, or domain names used by users who connect to the site, URI (Uniform Resource Identifier) of requested resources, time of request, the method used to submit the request to the server, the file size obtained, etc. These data are used to obtain web anonymous or aggregate statistics and to check the correct operations. These data are permanently located on third party servers (hosting). The data could be used to verify responsibility in case of hypothetical crimes against the website.

b) Cookies

The website uses cookies to help users to customize their experience, faster navigation, improve safety, analyze the use and efficiency of the services and offer commercial information. Users can view the Privacy Cookie, containing all expression and negation of consent.

Purposes of the processing: The data collected during navigation are processed for the following purposes:

1. Performance of operations strictly linked and instrumental to the management of relations with users and visitors to the website;
2. Collection, storage and processing of data for statistical analyses, also in anonymous and/or aggregated form.

Data processing to fulfil the purposes listed in point 1 is necessary and any non-provision or incorrect provision of any information may limit and/or impede the full use of the functions and services available on the website.

The provision of data indicated in purpose 2 is optional, and your refusal for processing shall not compromise the functions and services available on the website. Concerning the optional provision of data, more information concerning the cookies present on the website can be found in the document cookie policy.

Personal data provided voluntarily by the user: the optional, explicit and voluntary sending of e-mails to the addresses indicated in this website or the filling in of any forms present implies the subsequent acquisition of the sender's personal data (including, but not limited to: name, surname, e-mail address). Specific disclaimers/statement are provided where forms are available.

Processing methods: personal data are processed using manual, electronic and automated systems as provided for in art. 130 Italian Data Protection Law, and also using cookies strictly for the time required to achieve the purposes for which they were collected. All data are processed in compliance with the methods indicated in Legislative Decree no. 196/2003, adopting the minimum and appropriate security measures.

Data are processed for web services at the server located at an external provider (please contact the Data Controller for the name), and are kept at the places where the servers are physically located.
