The Online World: 2018

The UK remains a powerful marketing hub, with the largest number of registrations for any country-code domain. 18% of the country’s digital footprint is in the .uk or worldwide. It’s one of the world’s most popular country-code domains, with 6% growth last year. Of the top ten country-code domains, .uk is the fastest growing, second only to .us.

Turkey has seen a 17% increase in the number of registrations for its .tr country-code domain. The rise of the country’s tech industry.

The US has seen a 17% increase in the number of registrations for its .us country-code domain. The rise of the country’s tech industry.

Kuwait’s country code, kw, has seen the biggest percentage growth award in one year, with the number of new registrations reaching 25% in the country which doesn’t allow registering from individuals in other countries.

Some ccTLDs are often used for websites, social media, and domain for these websites. The country code is used by those in the creative industry, has always been available, while nation-states or states, used by individuals working in security and identity fields, has shown by 85%. For example, it has surged by 20% over the past year reflecting the current issues in artificial intelligence.